OUR NEED FOR A POST-WAR FOREIGN TRADE PROGRAM

And a Suggested Basis for Our Economic Defense

Address of

WILLIAM L. MONRO, President

of the

AMERICAN TARIFF LEAGUE

• • • There can be no doubt that inevitably we will be confronted in a post-war world with problems vastly different from what we have known. There can be no doubt that whatever the outcome there will be problems of international exchange and currency depreciation. There will be export subsidies in one form or another, and considerable political management of exports and imports. The United States must be prepared to adapt its program to the realities with which we are then confronted. We must be free to exercise a constructive leadership in the efforts toward reconstruction, but we cannot permit the United States to become the dumping ground for subsidized or politically managed exports."
